

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A multi-level position or range designating method for browsing, editing and indexing a multimedia stream is disclosed. The present method continuously sets a general range designated by a user from a previous level as an entire multimedia stream for a present level to display a more detailed view of the multimedia stream, such that a user can make a more minute designation of a desired range.